

Mammoet Crane Inc.

Mammoet Canada Western Ltd. is a division of Mammoet BV in the Netherlands, and is the culmination of several merged entities with roots in the industry. ETARCO (Engineered Transportation and Rigging Company) a Canadian heavy transport company was established in 1998 in Edmonton, Alberta, with the majority of the interest of the company being owned by the Van Seumeren Group. Two years later the Van Seumeren Group acquired Mammoet and the name was changed to ETARCO Mammoet. The company continued operations under this name until December 31, 2001 when it changed its name to Mammoet Canada Western Ltd. (MCW).

The mixture of Canadian and Dutch cultures enabled this Canadian division to offer its clients worldwide expertise in specialized lifting and transport services. In 2002, MCW's head office was in Edmonton, with an operational office in Fort MacKay (Fort McMurray) and a sales office in Calgary, Alberta. In 2002, the inception of Mammoet Crane Inc. (MCI) offered crane rental services. Since then MCI's fleet of cranes has increased more than ten times, offering services throughout western Canada. In 2006, Mammoet Transportation Inc. (MTI) was started, offering Full and LTL truckload transportation throughout North America.

We have now expanded locations to suit our customers and also offer fully operational offices in Calgary, Bonnyville, and Pincher Creek.

Organization

Since our inception in 1991, Mammoet has proven our ability to provide effective and efficient, reliable service as seen in our large client base and completed projects over the years. We have increased our portfolio to include a multitude of services for our clients in the petrochemical, civil, power, industrial and construction industries.

We offer heavy transportation, heavy lift, crane rentals, on site transportation, several heavy lifting devices and one- stop supply chain management solutions, plus much more. Mammoet has expanded operational offices in western Canada throughout Alberta thus offering our clients efficient and effective services. We are proud of the relationships we have forged over the years with companies who value our service and commitment to completing their jobs effectively and efficiently.

Website: www.mammoet.com

